

Private Markets 360° | Episode 53: Navigating Real Estate Debt in Evolving Markets

By Jocelyn Lewis and Chris Sparenberg

In this episode of Private Markets 360°, we welcome Glenn Grimaldi, CEO of Naftali Credit Partners. Glenn discusses his journey from traditional banking to private credit and shares insights into the evolution of real estate debt markets. He explores Naftali Credit's rational and disciplined investment approach, its focus on sectors such as multifamily in gateway markets, and how the firm identifies value and manages risk. Glenn also discusses institutional investor engagement and the outlook for private credit as the sector continues to mature.
